In GalileoDiscovery you can use the asterisk as a truncation character - eg. cultur * for culture, cultural, and culturally - and the question mark for any character - eg. wom? n for woman, women

You can use quotation marks “ ” for the exact phrase - eg. "Legislative Decree 19 September 1994 n 626". When using this type of strategy in quick search avoid adding other logical operators. If you want to combine logical operators and exact phrase use the advanced search

when visiting an institution other than their own

Journal articles and book chapters not available in University of Padova libraries can be requested through the Document Delivery service (DD)
